One of the most secure ways to store credit card information is via Spb Wallet. As the name suggests, the program is an electronic wallet that stores credit card details as well as sensitive data or personal information. If you are happy storing data on your laptop or computer as well, the Spb Wallet information can be synchronised. Each time Spb Wallet is started, a password prompt appears and the encryption used is AES, ensuring confidentiality of data at all times.

All your private information is in safe hands
